ROMANCE OF SLAVERY DAYS.

Willis West, aged 97, was married at
New Orleans, recently, to Marceline Bradley, aged 107. Both are negroes, and their romance dates back three-quarters of a century. In slavery times they were the property of wealthy Louisianians, owning adjoining plantations, but while the young were put on the auction block, one being sold into Kentucky, and the other to South Alabama. Years after the war they drifted back to New Orleans. West accumulated property valued at $1,000, and then met his old sweetheart. It was many years before Marceline would give her consent; indeed, only on March 10th last did the profess willingness to submit to the restraints of marriage, and the ceremony was performed twenty minutes later.

THE CRITERION OF QUALITY.

THE STANDARD OIL COMPANY AND CHINA.

THE TERMS OF THE CONTRACT.

The Peking correspondent of "The Times" commenting on the contract between the Chinese Government and the Standard Oil Company, writes—

Much scenery was described when the agreement was signed, and it was generally supposed that it would be a bad case for China. The contract, however, discloses no unimpeachable provisions, and, so far as appears on the surface, China will get 37 1/2 per cent. of the profits of exploitation without any outlay of capital, and can make her share up to nearly half by purchase. More advantages to her than any direct profits will be the economic development due to the transport of machinery, and subsequent of the oil, the construction of pipelines and light railways, the employment of labour on the fields, and the consumption of the home instead of a foreign product. The price paid for this monopoly in the two provinces seems fair, considering that China herself, as her credit stands at present, could not borrow the capital to exploit the fields.

The exclusion of other foreigners from the whole of China for a year is not particularly serious, for there is nothing to prevent the examination of other fields by other nationalities during that year with a view to securing concessions when the American option shall have expired.

The belief is prevalent that besides the price set forth in the contract the Standard Oil Company have either promised a large loan to the Chinese Government, or have paid a sum of money besides. It is by no means clear, however, that the Chinese oil-fields have much practical value, and that the right to work them is worth any serious amount in the shape of cash or accommodation. It is hard to imagine, of course, that Chinese statesmen have concluded an arrangement of this kind with so sophisticated an institution as the Standard Oil Company without their personal merits being recognised by the company in the usual manner. Another view is that the Standard Oil Company has no intention seriously to work the fields, and has only sought a footing with the object of keeping others out. The terms of the contract provide that the work shall be commenced shortly after the fields have been favourably reported upon; but there is nothing in the contract to compel the proper development of the fields, nor is it provided that the concession lapses if the experts declare, as they might, that the fields are not worth working.

From the Chinese point of view there is the serious consideration of the attitude of the people of Shensi province. Syndicates which in the past have been given concessions in the provinces by the Central Government have frequently had disastrous experience of provincial opposition, particularly where mining rights were concerned. The authorities in Shensi have spent money in examining their oil resources, and native enterprise has been busy there for years, whilst recently a local company has started refining the oil. The Chinese never trust their Government to pay compensation. Shensi, therefore, is likely to look upon the transaction simply as a sacrifice of provincial rights for the benefit of Peking.

On the question of possible trouble in the province, Reuters' agent at Tokyo alludes to the fact that there were others also, and more particularly the Japanese, who had their eyes on the fields.

In fact, now that the concession has definitely been granted to the Standard Oil, there is much heart-burning in Japan, according to the best reports, and the financial agents here and the Japanese Diplomatic representatives are showing concern and activity. The outcome of the whole thing will, perhaps, be slow, as the people of the province of Shensi will have a word to say. The Chinaman does not quite so readily permit the alienation of what he regards as his "pidgin" and "squeezed." It may be, indeed, that Yung will have some difficulty in delivering the goods. Anyhow, the Standard Oil Company has added a few more weeks or months' pay for the army, which may be needed to protect the concessionaire in Shensi. In fact, it is noticeable that the contract provides for soldiers and for guards, the cost of which is to be paid by "both parties." One can readily grasp the fact that the Standard Oil Company will lend China money wherewith to set up the "other half."

Berlin Socialists are to hold a "red week" and they tried to post advertisements on the pillars in the streets, but this the police prevented. However, the words "Rote Woche" were painted 14 times upon the pedestal of the equestrian statue of the late Emperor Frederick. The paint has eaten into the porous marble, and seems to defy complete obliteration, in spite of vigorous scrubbing.

Someone, says "Madge," in the "Gentlewoman," has made yet another discovery about women. An entirely new one this time. He declares that each woman has two souls, that the two are quite dissimilar from each other, and that this dissimilarity is the cause of our apparent fickleness. This is deeply interesting, so far as it goes. But is the gentleman sure that we have but two pieces? Why, some women have at least a dozen, and the struggle of their lives is to induce them all to agree about things. Internal dissension is the individualist equivalent of national civil war. When a woman cannot make up her mind whether to accept or refuse a man's offer of marriage, she is merely interviewing her several souls, listening in turn to what each of them has to remark, and weighing, in a more or less trustworthy, balance, the results of the examination. The jury sitting within is a troublesome business, unduly complicating the affairs of life, and leading to the state of indecision which is one of the most disagreeable conditions of mind.

NAVAL AND MILITARY AVIATION.

On the Supplementary Naval Estimates recently introduced by Mr. Churchill, £260,000 are required for aeronautics. The Admiralty have on order eight airships, which, together with two sheds, will cost £475,000. Of this sum, only £200,000 falls to be spent in the current year; the difference between this amount and the £260,000 required is to be expended on seaplanes. Messrs. Vickers are supplying four of the eight airships—one large rigid airship of the Zeppelin type, which will be built entirely in England, and three smaller ones of the non-rigid type, which will be partially constructed abroad. Three large semi-rigid airships, of the Forlanini design, have been ordered from Messrs. Armstrong, and of these one only will be constructed abroad. Both firms have built large sheds for use in connection with this work. The one other airship ordered is of the Astra-Torres non-rigid type, and is being constructed in France; it is, we believe, practically completed. Something is therefore being done to foster the home industry in this branch of war material, but the programme, admittedly, does not compete effectively with that of either France or Germany, and whether, as suggested by the First Lord, our position with regard to seaplanes is sufficient to compensate for the deficiency, we think, open to question. Some interesting facts relating to the state of aviation in the Army were given by Colonel Seely in his Memorandum on the Army Estimates for the coming year, during which £1,000,000 is required for this branch of the Service. Of these, perhaps the most notable is that the Army airships were handed over to the Naval authorities at the beginning of this year, and that, in future, lighter-than-air craft for both naval and military service will be under the administration of the Admiralty. This certainly seems to be a very satisfactory step, which should simplify organisation, hasten development, and lead to more efficient service. The establishment during the past year of a department for inspecting aviation supplies, and for periodically examining aeroplanes and engines, is also another step in the right direction, remarks a writer in “Engineering,” of the 13th ult. These machines are well known to be particularly liable to deterioration in service, and at least one fatal accident has been traced to a cause which could have been discovered by efficient inspection. The recurrence of such accidents should therefore be prevented by the new department. Careful inspection should also do much to keep the greatest possible number of machines in service by notifying small defects at their inception. The number of machines in the possession of the War Office on the February 25 was 161, as compared with 100 at about this time last year. During the period no less than eighty aeroplanes have been struck off the list and replaced, so that most of those now in use should be modern machines in first-class condition; a large number of new machines are also on order. Up to the present the authorities have been hastening very slowly in the matter of aeronautics, in the constant dread that machines in their possession would be rendered obsolete by new inventions, and this policy has left us far behind some of the Continental nations. The comparatively large expenditure proposed is therefore absolutely necessary to build up an efficient air service, which, as Colonel Seely very rightly remarks, cannot be improvised. British manufacturers, who have received but little encouragement in the past, will also welcome large orders.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

Five Sanitary Board evictees who were pulling a dust cart in Queen's Road yesterday ran over a fellow countryman. A charge of reckless driving was preferred against them.

A European seaman on the s.s. Solweig was taken ill yesterday and on examination the pull doctor diagnosed his case as probable small-pox. He was sent to the Governor's Civil Hospital.

H.M.S. Merlin sailed yesterday for Canton. Torpedo-boat 638 left for the West River to replace the 037, which came down to Hongkong yesterday. Another arrival in port was the U.S.S. Callan.

An Indian watchman employed by the Hongkong, Canton and Macao Steamboat Company was knocked down by a tram-car in Cunningham Road West yesterday. Suffering from injuries to his head, he was sent to the Government Civil Hospital.

The Medical Officer's health return for the week ended April 11 shows that in the period 139 cases of lobar pneumonia were reported, 96 deaths resulting. With the exception of one Filipino the patients were Chinese. The City accounted for 70 notifications, 45 of the remaining 79 being from Yauwatt, which this season has suffered severely. There has been 570 notifications this year so far, with 431 deaths. One Britisher and two Chinese contracted the disease, the death resulting; one Britisher was reported to be suffering from pneumonia, and there were 12 Chinese small-pox notifications, with ten deaths.

Mr. James Sant, R.A., who is in his 94th year, has resigned his membership of the Royal Academy, his decision being solely prompted by a generous desire to afford an opportunity of full membership to an Associate. His resignation has been received with regret, but Mr. Sant's friends and admirers will be glad to hear that although no longer an active member he hopes to exhibit a picture in the Academy year by year. He is at present hard at work on a portrait.

NEWS OF THE DAY.

LOCAL AND GENERAL.

Mr. Justice Hazeland who is acting as Puisne Judge during the absence of the Chief Justice, took his seat in the Summary Court this morning.

To-morrow's issue of the China Mail will contain “Hotapur” (London “Daily Telegraph”) account of the Lincolnshire Handicap, run March 25th, last.

The total output of the Kailan Mining Administration's mines for the week ending April 4 amounted to 60,720.50 tons and the sales during the period to 54,683.08 tons.

We were informed to-day by the Colonial Secretary's Office that information had been received from Saigon that the Government of Indo-China had declared Hongkong to be a plague infected port.

The heavy downpour of rain at 11.15 to-day flooded the Praya and Queens Road in many places. The Soldiers' Club and other buildings were unapproachable on account of the water which extended as far as the road. The tram service in Des Vaux Road was also suspended for a short time through a switch on one of the cars getting out of order.

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL.

The Chief Justice, Sir William Reeves, left for Home on short leave to-day.

Mr. F. B. L. Bowley left for Home this morning via Siberia and expects to be away about seven months.

HONGKONG GUN CLUB.

Annual Meeting.

The annual general meeting of the Hongkong Gun Club was held at the Hongkong and Shanghai Bank Mess. The members present were Mr. G. C. Moon (in the chair), Dr. Dalmahey, Mr. Allen, Mr. Murdoch, Mr. Hall, Dr. Greene, Mr. Hoggate, and Mr. D.C.L.I., Dr. Fitzwilliams, Lieut. Commander McGillicuddy, Mr. Hoggate (treasurer), and Major Fitzwilliams (hon. secretary).

The balance sheet and report were discussed. The Chairman stated that he considered the working of the Club in the past year had been most satisfactorily carried on. The debit balance of $202.82 had changed into a credit balance of $394.00. He thought it very wise to have written down all buildings furniture, etc., to practically nil. The club was indebted to twenty-two old members who had given their shares to the club on leaving the Colony. The accounts were passed.

The election of committee-men resulted as follows:—Mr. E. J. Grist, Mr. R. Humeck, Mr. F. C. Hall, Dr. Dalmahey, Mr. J. C. G. Ferguson (hon. treasurer), Major Fitzwilliams (hon. secretary).

Mr. Hoggate tendered his resignation as hon. treasurer, which was respectfully accepted and Mr. Ferguson came forward to take his place.

The programme for the 1914 season's shooting was submitted and passed; and will be issued shortly to members.

The Club is to be “At Home” on Sunday, 19th April, at 3 p.m., as an opening day. The season for cup competitions was fixed to commence from the 1st May, details being left to the committee.

It was agreed that rules 5, 6 and 7 be amended, the wording being left to the Committee, to read “that in future members joining the club should pay an entrance fee of $20 instead of $40 for a share, returnable on leaving.” It is to be optional whether present ordinary members come under this rule or not.

The Chairman said that the Club might have to face the difficulty of having to obtain a new site, as the present one would soon be built upon. It was a good thing to know that the Club could face the difficulty from a financial point of view.

Mr. Hall said he was at liberty to state that a fresh site up the Valley, or near by, might be provided by the President, the Hon. Mr. D. Landale. Anyhow, they would not be disturbed this year. The Club never had more members than at present and he considered the institution of its membership, for members leaving the Colony, and the including of temporary Naval members, a good thing. Thanks were due to His Honour Judge Wise for so kindly sending a Cup to the shot for, and to the old members for donating their shares.

The Chairman proposed a cordial vote of thanks to the Committee, and especially to Mr. Hoggate, the hon. treasurer, who was resigning that office, and congratulated him on winning the championship two years in succession. He also congratulated the hon. secretary on the way he had revived the interest in the club in the past year, and the satisfactory state it was now in. He considered, also, that thanks were due to the ladies who had already held “At Home” at the club, and hoped that it would become a custom, in future, for members' wives to hold “At Home” in the grounds.

A vote of thanks was passed to the Chairman.

ST. STEPHEN'S COLLEGE.

FAREWELL TO ARCHDEACON BARNETT.

Welcoming His Successor.

At the St. Stephen's College last night a social evening was held by the students to bid farewell to Archdeacon Barnett on his retirement from the position of Warden, and to welcome his successor, Rev. A. D. Stewart.

Mr. Man Sai Tye was in the chair, and those present included the Bishop and Mrs. Lander, Professor W. J. Hinton, the Hon. Mr. Claud Sverin, Archdeacon and Mrs. Barnett, the Rev. A. D. Stewart Mr. N.G. Warren, Miss Middleton Smith, Sir Kai Ho Kai and Mr. Tao.

During a break in the programme, the Archdeacon was presented with a rose bowl and silver plate mounted on blackwood as a mark of esteem from past and present students.

Mr. Won Ying Shing initiating the proceedings said that it was a matter of real sorrow to all interested in St. Stephen's to learn that the Archdeacon had found it necessary to resign from the wardenship of the College. During the period of his administration the school had from small beginnings grown to be the most important one in the Colony, and its students are proud of its success. By his strict integrity and unvarying courtesy he had endeared himself to the Chinese, and those who had had the privilege of being taught under his guidance have much to thank him for. Although he was withdrawing from active work in connection with St. Stephen's he felt sure that his interest will ever continue. A lengthy speech was hardly looked for on the occasion of a social gathering like that, but the speaker could assure them that he had won the admiration, gratitude and affection of all. He asked the Archdeacon to accept as a token of their esteem those small presents. And with them they wished him every happiness and prayed that his life might be spared for many years to continue his great work in their country. (Applause.)

Archdeacon Barnett said it was not a very easy thing to speak that night for various reasons. That afternoon when he was thinking of what he might say his mind went back 11½ years ago when he was sitting in his study at Melbourne and a telegram was brought in asking him if he would come and take charge of an Anglo-Chinese college. That was the first word he heard of it and it was the first invitation he had. He came and opened what was now St. Stephen's College within two months of the receipt of that telegram.

More than that the last eleven years he counted as amongst the happiest years of his life. He had felt ever since he came to Hongkong, and had his first consultation with Sir Kai Ho Kai, Chau Sui Kai and Mr. Tao, as to how that school should be carried on, that from time to time he had been amongst friends. He had had that brought home to him not only by Chinese gentlemen but by students connected with the college whether they were in the college at that time or had passed out as old boys. He had, more persons friends he thought now amongst Chinese than he had amongst those of his own race. That had been impressed upon him during the last eleven years and now that chapter had come to an end. In a sense—a very deep sense—he regretted it because it cut him off from the right he had had there in helping to direct their thoughts and do a little towards training the characters of so many students, over 80, who had passed through there during those years. He regretted he was cut off from them. He was not going away from Hongkong; he was not forfeiting their friendship which he valued so highly; he was not going to be out of touch of St. Stephen's College or where the old boys could not get at him or he at them. For those things he was devotedly glad. It was with mixed feelings that he stood there. One thing he was exceedingly thankful for, and that was that the one who had been chosen to succeed him at St. Stephen's was one who was well known to them and one in whom they had great confidence (applause). He felt that if they were looking for someone who would help to maintain the College to maintain its name and position in the Colony that they had the right man in Mr. Stewart (applause).

More than that, he felt that in Mr. Stewart with the experience he had had at St. Paul's, his enthusiasm for the work would bring new life into the college and it would develop greatly in the future on good and strong lines.

And so for that reason he was retiring from the position of warden with the confidence that the College, which he loved so well and was so close to him, was going to succeed even better than it had done in the past. They had always been his friends and treated him well and that evening they had certainly maintained their reputation in that respect. They were wonderful gifts and memories of a farewell to St. Stephen's College, and he took it, from the shape the gift had taken, that they included Mrs. Barnett. Perhaps they did not know how much interest Mrs. Barnett had taken in the College. Since she came to Hongkong she had helped him more than any body knew, in carrying out his duties there. He was glad to see such a valuable rose bowl had been given them. He would be proud to hang the silver shield in his study so that if it were possible, he would never forget the good friends he had in St. Stephen's College. He gave them very hearty thanks, not only for that evening but for a series of kindnesses which he had received from the students at the college; for the consideration and help he had received from the parents and guardians of students during the past year. Those things he would never forget. (Applause.)

In welcoming Mr. Stewart Mr. Won Ying-shing said he had the honour in the name of the students to extend to him a hearty welcome as he came to take over the Wardenship of St. Stephen's College. He was no stranger to them and the successful work he had accomplished at St. Paul's made them feel fortunate that he had undertaken the supervision of that College. They hoped that his reign there would be marked by great prosperity and by his list of successes will increase year by year; and they prayed that his work would prove a blessing to the school and a source of great happiness to his self.

He asked him to accept these few words as a welcome and as an assurance of their loyalty.

The Rev. A. D. Stewart received in ovation which he thanked the students. It was just seven years ago he taught in that school and he enjoyed that year so much that when he went back again to St. Paul's College his greatest wish was to again teach in that school. It would be very hard to think of the Archdeacon and St. Stephen's College as separated and he felt sure the doors of the college were going to see the Archdeacon going in and out as before, and that they were going to benefit very much from his wise counsel and advice which had made that college what it was that day. He hoped with the loyalty of the students and the help of the staff the work would not be an unprofitable task.

Sir Kai Ho Kai also spoke on the valuable services the Archdeacon had rendered to the institution. Eleven years ago he was convinced Archdeacon Barnett was the proper man to come and open the College and the parents, guardians and supporters of that institution were very much indebted to him for what he had done. His work was great and unique and would result in a great advantage to the Chinese youth, not only in Hongkong but the whole of China. His teaching carried with it spiritual and moral training which many educational institutions did not afford to the students. Archdeacon Barnett was not only the founder but the nurse of that institution. His success had had valuable experience in training Chinese youths not only in education but also morally and spiritually and he was a worthy successor.

Those who contributed to an entertaining programme were Miss Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Turnbull, Mr. F. A. Brinkman, Mr. F. C. Clark, Messrs. W. K. Shing, Mr. C. H. Fung, Mr. Fung Shui I, Wong Hing Lam, Liu Chai Sang, Wei Wing Lock, and Wan Chiu Fan.

THE TIGER.

A BULLOCK EATEN.

A bullock owned by a woman farmer at Shek O village, Shaikwan district, which was sent out to graze on a hillside in the Wan Tsam San Gap, near Cape D'Aguilar, on Tuesday did not return, and its carcass, badly mauled, was found later in the day. Circumstances pointed to the fact that a tiger attacked it.

The woman sent out at eight o'clock in the morning two bullocks and a calf, and one of the bullocks and the calf returned in a frightened state at noon. The woman went out to investigate and found the body of the animal with wounds in the neck, on both sides and the hind quarters. The carcass was left and at seven next morning the woman found that it had been dragged a distance of about 10 yards, and then eaten, only the skeleton being left. The bullock weighed about 300 catties and was worth $40.

A bullock was mauled by a tiger in the same district in 1912.

A Rumour of a Gentleman in Chase.

The tiger has again been seen. On this occasion Miss Miller, daughter of Mr. J. Findlay Miller of Messrs. Bradley and Co., is stated to have seen it in her father's garden at the Peak last Monday evening. It is rumored, we have been informed, that certain members of the legal fraternity—who have recently gone to reside at the Peak, and who are well aware of the many other dangers of that district, such as snakes, rats and divers creeping things, but who may see tigers was more than they bargained for—have made arrangements with a brother professional, well known for his zeal as a voluntary defender of the Colony, to patrol the upper levels; and in return they will make ample concessions in any case in which he is engaged in Council. Should any of our readers see a legal gentleman prowling round the Peak armed with a rifle or partly concealed behind a tuft of grass—which he may describe as a “mushu”—or if he should be leading a flock of goats for bait; it is just within the bounds of possibility that he might be the gallant defender hinted at.—Contributed.

THE MEXICAN REVOLUTION.

London, April 16.
When the fleet now ordered to Tampico arrives there will be eleven Dreadnoughts, besides vessels of every branch of the Navy, with a landing force aggregating 15,000.

The fleet actually at Tampico is sufficient for a mere demonstration.

The despatch of this enormous force is interpreted as showing that President Wilson is determined to intervene, unless Huerta complies.

Meanwhile, Huerta has sent a note to the United States to the effect that he cannot see in what way the Federals have inflicted an insult. He points out that the salute asked would be an admission that the United States exercised undue influence. He also added "Mexico is a free nation, and President Huerta will uphold the honour and sovereignty of Mexico at any cost."

United States Warlike Preparations.

A Washington cable states that President Wilson, explaining the Mexican situation to a number of Senators and Congressmen whom he summoned, said that if President Huerta does not comply with the United States demands the first step taken against him will be the seizure of Tampico and Vera Cruz. The Government has issued an official statement enumerating not only the arrest of the Marines but also the arrest of the orderly who at Tampico was going for mails, the interception of United States official despatches and reported offences against the rights and dignities of the U.S.A. The statement points out that the United States has apparently been singled out for manifestations of Mexican ill-will and contempt, and expresses the hope that Mexico will see the propriety of giving satisfactory evidence of its desire to repudiate or correct this conduct.

The U.S.S. Norfolk and Virginia, the battleships Arkansas, Vermont, New Hampshire New Jersey, and the despatch-boat Yankton sailed this morning full speed for Tampico. The cruiser Cleveland (?) has been ordered to proceed to Mazatlan immediately and the cruiser Chattanooga is expected to follow in a fortnight. The cruisers Pittsburg, Maryland and Cleveland and the transport Buffalo have orders to prepare for immediate departure.

The Navy Department states that orders have been given for a demonstration on the Pacific coast. A torpedo boat flotilla of the Pacific Fleet now at San Pedro, California, has received orders to be in readiness.

THE "CHILDA" CASE.

CAPTAIN AND CHARTERS FINED.

Mr. Basil Taylor, Magistrate at the Marine Court gave his judgment this morning in the charge against Capt. Neilson, master of the s.s. Childa, who was summoned for carrying more passengers than allowed by his clearance; and against the Chino-Siam Navigation Company for unlawfully and knowingly consenting to the same.

The magistrate said: In this case the evidence clearly proves that both defendants were guilty of the offence charged against them but in different degrees. I consider that the charterer is primarily to blame for the breach of the law on the part of the ship in so much that he instructed the master to carry only 50 passengers and then proceeded to sell 235 passenger tickets for the voyage without informing the master that he had done so. The master is also to blame in a lesser degree in so much that he took no steps to discover how many passengers he had on board before sailing, nor to cause the increase in numbers to be reported on the reopening of the Harbour Office on Monday morning. I do not consider either of the defendants willfully offended. Both defendants are convicted. I sentence the first defendant Mr. Hans Neilson to a fine of $10 and the second defendant Tung Shing Kow (manager to the charterer) to a fine of $200.

NINETY PIRATES CAUGHT.

WHOLESALE CAPTURE IN CHINESE TERRITORY.

Everything that can be known in connection with the piracy of the "Childa" is known. The significant statement made to a representative of the "China Mail" today by a police officer.

The Canton authorities have been very active at Swatow and neighbourhood, and we were informed that 80 to 90 of the pirates have been captured. They were in hiding in a village in Chinese territory and when the authorities went to arrest them they resisted with arms. A battle ensued and many of the pirates were killed though it is not possible to state the number. The remainder were arrested and taken to Canton. Clocks and other articles, which were on board the "Childa," were discovered in the pirates' houses.

The defendant mentioned at the Hongkong Magistracy yesterday as being probably on board the Childa, and who was alleged to be one of the gang, has been identified by the tallman of the vessel. His name is Wong See (90), a rickshaw coolie, who when arrested was living at No. 217, Temple Street, Yumtati.

It is presumed that the defendants now in custody in Hongkong will be handed over to the Canton authorities with whom the local police department are co-operating.

Altogether 112 persons, either pirates or persons actually associated with the piracy, left the vessel in junks and by far the major portion has been accounted for. We are further assured there is no shadow of doubt as to their identity.

PUNJABI SPORTS.

Athletics at Kowloon.

The 26th Punjab Regiment held its third annual athletic sports meeting in Hongkong at the United Services Club ground, Kowloon, yesterday afternoon and provided a programme which was keenly enjoyed by a large gathering of officers and their ladies. Of the twenty-two events on the card the first ten, comprising the cross-country and individual events, were decided on Tuesday, the more spectacular ones being reserved for decision before the public yesterday. The exhibition by the drill team, trained by Capt. Campbell, was a first class gymnastic performance and the instructor was deservedly complimented by both General Kelly and Major Thompson. The running drill, carried out under Captain Anderson's direction was also praiseworthy. The regimental band provided a delightful programme, which was augmented by the drum and bugle band. The latter played the retreat at sunset.

FLEET PAYMASTER DISGRACED.

Hard Labour and Dismissal for Desertion and Fraud.

At Portsmouth, on the 25th ult., a naval court-martial sat for the trial of Fleet Paymaster George Harold Cole, of the Hampshire, against whom six charges were preferred—namely, of fully disobeying the command of his superior officer, Captain Marcus R. Hill, of deserting from the Hampshire on January 25 last at Colombo, of fraudulently converting to his own use £1,008 of public money, of stealing £459.10s. between December 3 and January 26 last, of altering a date in cash book with intent to defraud, and of withholding from Captain Hill a receipt for £249.9s. money which had been given him to remit.

Mr. G. H. King, who appeared for the accused, intimated that he was prepared to plead "Guilty" to the charge of wilful disobedience of the command and of converting to his own use £1,008 of public money, and withdrew the other charges.

SCOTTISH SPORT.

(From Our Own Correspondent.)

THE CALVERTIA CUP.

England's football team, which at Rugby Football Ground, Edgburgh, by 15 points to 15, the difference between 5 and 10, was a dropped goal. By a narrowness of margin England thus carried off the mythical Triple Crown and retained the English Calvertia Cup. Despite the defeat, it was a comparatively happy crowd of Scots who left the field; for the majority of them had been in a despondent mood and were delighted to discover that their anticipatory pessimism was not justified. Both sides showed up in style of play, but they provided a contrast of methods. The English backs were somewhat individualistic, and on occasion rather frolic; whereas the Scots attempted little beyond the obvious pass to a comrade or the indicated kick to boot.

The English XV. deserved their victory because their more elaborate advances, when successful, were always fraught with a danger which the Scottish attacks never suggested. Territorially the Scots probably held the advantage, but the less sustained pressure of the visitors had the greater penetrative power.

After a burst by England, in which Dingle had a splendid opportunity, the Scots for a long period kept play in the region of the English 25. On several occasions that English line was in jeopardy, but good defensive tactics prevailed against such attacks. Plain efforts of Scotland were only rewarded with a single try scored by Will. Then the English forwards made some short, sharp dashes which carried play into the home section of the field, and Dingle was conspicuous for work on the blind side.

Later, well sustained passing movements enabled Lowe to make a clever score, though it was impossible to escape from the feeling that Wallace might have brought down his colleague of the Cambridge XV. England were lucky to be on an equality at half-time.

The Scots immediately after the resumption made a stirring attack, and Hagan showed fine resolution in getting a try which Taylor failed to convert. Then came a period of brilliant attacks from the English backs, countered by strong forward dribbles by the Scots. The home defence was not too costly, however, and England amassed 13 points, 10 of which might have been averted. The game seemed finished when Bowie suddenly dropped a brilliant goal with his left foot. Then he broke away in confident style and gave a good opportunity, which the speed of the Cambridge winger and Turner's place kicking turned into a placed goal. The closing stages of the game were marked by the successful strategy of England to retain their narrow lead.

The play of the Scottish pack was a surprise; and they were little, if any, inferior to their much lauded opponents. In the light they got an almost equal share of the ball, and only failed in so far that their attempts at kicking were by comparison crude and sluggish. Indeed the Scottish pack were much more spirited and purposeful than in the preceding international. Maxwell was a success, his energy was well limited. Ross played a fine game, showing aptitude and intelligence in the open; while Laing worked tremendously hard in the tight and was always up with the ball. It would be unfair to say that any member of the pack was a failure. Fodder was a success, Turner played his best international game; Symington gave a good all-round display; Usher was always in the thick of the fight; and Young was level without being particularly striking. The English pack was rather disappointing, except in the line out. They were too easily broken up by the Scottish scrum, and they were too easily out of the line. At half-back there was little difference between the four men. Oakley showed smarter and better directed passing than Milroy, but the latter was more robust in face of forward rushes. Bowie took his passes well and transferred with discrimination, though he lacked the confident individualism of Davies, who at intervals exhibited the defects of this quality and lost many good chances by trying too much.

England enjoyed a superiority at centre three-quarter, who, apart from Watson, sometimes carried a large share of the play, and was very clever and resourceful if just inclined to sacrifice effect to ornament. Indeed Watson was the outstanding three-quarter on the field, and frequently supplanted the opposition by the variety of his tactics in the Scottish side. He was undistinguished, being slow in attack and rather easily deceived in defence. Angus played well without touching the form he has often shown in club football. Will was delightful, and proved that his previous international displays were due to lack of opportunity.
